The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY [illegible] 1872

The Bigger Question

[illegible] the strife [illegible] contest in Oregon. It is for its effect on national issues [illegible] election, after this, will be the chief interest attaching to it here. The disputes [illegible] of which have arisen [illegible] organized [illegible] value of the election will be [illegible] and mainly in its bearing on national politics.

For this reason Republicans should not forget in the midst of local contention the paramount object. The peace, security, safety and progress of the country have for years depended on the Republican party. The country has reposed confidence in it and has not been disappointed. Why do a free people support a party? Is it not because that party's measures are deemed best for the public welfare? Tried by this rule the Republican party has never yet been wanting. National affairs are prudently and honestly managed and we have peace and unexampled prosperity throughout the country. What more is wanted?

Doubtless it is true that some reforms are needed. Neither this Government nor any other was ever so perfect as not to require in some particulars of administration some changes for the better. So it will be always with Governments, so always with the people who make them. The faults of our Government it has always been the steady aim of the Republican party to correct, and that party has shown more capacity for this work than any other which has controlled the Government.

From a national point of view the case stands thus: On one side there are order, safety and prosperity; there is a tried public policy which has proved equal to the wants of the country and a party which has met with unexampled success in leading the country through the greatest difficulties and dangers. On the other side are reaction, confusion, and an unknown future untried for good or ill. The way leads into possible, or even probable, dangers. Why then, disturb the repose of the country? Why unsettle its prosperity? Why hazard its future? Wise men do not throw away that which is certain and good for that which is unknown and possibly evil.

Republicans, then, should bear in mind that in this contest they have a duty to perform which is of a national character. Let not this be forgotten. There is contention now about local matters, but the election, in its results, will have a higher value. Most of the questions raised by the opposition are questions of yesterday, and have no to-morrow.

An Empty Denial

It has been asserted over and over again that the Republican party is pledged to certain schemes looking to the transfer of the Canal and Locks in process of construction at Wallamet Falls, to Ben Holladay. For answer to this silly assertion we stated that Mr Holladay could have purchased a controlling interest in the Canal and Locks at any time during the last eighteen months, and that a majority of the stock has repeatedly been offered to him. We made this statement on authority which we deem entirely trustworthy. The assurance was added that complete and convincing proof would be furnished to substantiate it, when necessary. But the Herald takes it upon itself to declare the statement a fabrication. It says: "We pronounce the whole statement from beginning to ending absolutely and unqualifiedly false." You do, indeed! You are not a responsible party in this matter. It is now two days since our statement was made, and the Locks Company have not denied it. When they do it will be time to furnish proof. Let us see if the President of the Company will publish a denial, as you have announced. Something more is necessary in this case than a mere denial by an outside party. We are assured most positively that if proof is challenged by any responsible person it shall be forthcoming. The Herald's denial is worth nothing.

While we are on this subject of the Locks we may as well observe that some days have elapsed since the publication in detail of the plans of the Company for constructing the Locks of timber, instead of stone, cement and iron, and this statement has not been met, disproved, or even denied. It was first made by the Farmer, a non partisan paper and has since been corroborated by further proof. Locks so built will have no durability, and will be a fraud upon the State.

The Boston Post, Democratic organ of New England, laments that "the Convention which assembled at Cincinnati allowed the spirit of combination to obscure its clear vision in respect to the pressing needs of the country, and wrecked a noble opportunity by the most strangely unfortunate misdirection of its aims." The Post doesn't support the ticket and calls for straight Democratic nominations at Baltimore.

Says the Herald: "The People's Ticket promises to sweep this county as clean as a new broom." Promise is one thing and performance another. This ticket was accepted by the Democratic Convention in the hope that it would get Republican votes, but it will lose two Democrats for every Republican that it gains. Large numbers of Democrats openly say they will not vote it.

The East Portland Era, though a Democratic paper, mentions that defalcation in Grant county, and speaks severely of the defaulter. Not a word yet in the Herald about it. Why does the Herald suppress this important item of news? If the defaulter were a Republican Postmaster in a village away off in Texas wouldn't that paper give a screaming article on the subject?

It is asserted by the Herald that Chinese are to be employed on the railroads immediately after the election. That paper could have learned that Chinese are at work on the railroads now. It has been found impossible to obtain white laborers enough. The engineer of the Locks Company gives notice also that he expects to employ Chinese on these works.

Two first class Democratic [illegible] have occurred within a short time almost in our midst, one at Walla Walla and the other at Canyon City. The Herald keeps mum about them; but if it should hear that a Postmaster away off in Vermont had skedaddled with a few postage stamps wouldn't it howl?

Sales at the San Francisco Stock Exchange from January [illegible] May [illegible] 1872, aggregate [illegible] 06 [illegible]4,800—a prodigious volume of business. The remarkable inflation of mining stocks which has recently taken place recalls the early days of the gold excitement, when thousands of persons rushed to the Pacific slope in quest of wealth. But the vicissitudes of fortune which have attended the [illegible] at San Francisco [illegible] marvelous [illegible]

[illegible] has [illegible] about [illegible] being [illegible] the Herald. Very [illegible]

The Metropolitan Gas Company of S[illegible] [illegible] just got their works in [illegible] [illegible] furnish gas at the [illegible] thousand feet.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Greeley is trying hard to persuade the Democracy to endure him. He has already served notice on the Democratic Convention that if it makes a nomination he will withdraw.

How often Horace gets converted to something new! In one chapter of his 'Recollections,' entitled "My Faith," he opposes Calvinism and declares himself a Universalist. He now departs from that and accepts for himself the doctrine of Election.

Baltimore is an unlucky place for the Democracy. It was there Cass was nominated, to be defeated by Zach Taylor, in 1848, and it was there the treachery and treason of the Charleston conspirators against the Democratic party culminated in 1861.

Here is a decisive blast of repudiation from the metropolitan organ of the Democracy, the New York World: "The Convention has chosen to nominate the most hated and conspicuous opponent of the Democratic party in the country. It called for revenue reform; it has selected the most zealous of protectionists. This leaves the Democratic party entirely free to await the developments of the immediate future, and opens the way to a possible Democratic victory."

Says the New York Evening Post: "The main reason why civil service reformers ought not to support Mr Greeley is the character of Mr Greeley himself. The President is himself at the head of the service, and the principle to be introduced into it is, that fitness and training and education shall be the only qualifications for office. Now the most prominent reflections in the minds of all candid persons suggested by the name of Greeley is, that his is a nomination "not fit to be made." A stable and capable civil service with Mr Greeley at its head, editing the Tribune, and publishing at every new move or appointment 'congratulatory dispatches' such as he is now publishing every day, applauding the honesty, efficiency and patriotism of Horace Greeley, would indeed be a farce."

The following is from a dispatch from Columbus, Ohio: Our Democrats here—men who do the voting and let others hold the offices—say that, with the exception of Grant, there is not a prominent Republican whom they would not sooner support for the Presidency than Horace Greeley. Some declare they would as readily vote for Grant as for Greeley. They say that for 30 years Greeley, with all his changes and queer notions, has been true to two things—the unswerving and bitter opposition to the Democratic party, its men and measures, and his persistent advocacy of high protective duties. Waiving his life long opposition to Democracy is a thing that might be passed over were he now right in the main point. Democrats affirm that it is asking a little too much.

Says the New York Times: The Tribune is not going to be an "organ"—but at the same time it devotes columns of its space every day to nonsensical "congratulations," alleged to have been received by Mr Greeley. As for its calumnies upon the President, who can now fail to see the motive which dictates them? Can a real candidate be expected to tell the truth or to show fair play? If not, you may as well set it at an end when conductors of newspapers become candidates for office and use their columns for the purpose of slandering their rivals. It requires no great discernment to see why the Tribune should endeavor to misrepresent every act of General Grant's, and to bring his Administration into disrepute. Mr Greeley wants to step into his shoes—that is all there is of it.

Political Forecastings

The Sacramento Union closes an article on present political aspects with this paragraph:

From all the State Conventions so far reported—twenty four—it appears certain that Grant will be renominated on first ballot, and probably without any ballot at all at Philadelphia, and that there will be at least a stout effort made at Baltimore to commit the Democratic National Convention to the indorsement of Greeley. But there are also rising signs of discontent with the foreshadowed programme, indications that a very strong body of the Democracy, led by men like Voorhees, with heavy backing in the North, who will not under any circumstances of discipline be driven or persuaded into the arrangement. Such a schism would endanger Greeley's prospects in many States which have been counted for him with much confidence, including the three great ones Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania, and possibly New Jersey. The New York Herald, which has been coming to us of late with two column editorials, breathing an ill suppressed confidence in the success of the Cincinnati movement, of a later date appears to have caught a glimpse of this probable Democratic division and is now backing and filling with evident and strong suspicions that Grant will be renominated and re elected.

THE TERRITORIES

Several petty thefts and house breaking have occurred in Seattle lately.

The Salt Lake Tribune says an insane asylum is greatly needed in that city. Insane people are now confined in the city prison.

The soda factory of Levy Bros at Seattle, was entered the other day, and two watches, one revolver and other articles stolen.

Fifteen hundred tons of rails with the fastenings, are on the way for the Utah Southern Railroad, and expected at an early day. This will lay the track to Lehi.

Owing to the postponement of the election in Washington Territory the Democracy of Walla Walla county are going to hold a new County Convention and nominate a new ticket.

Mr D McDonald, of Centerville, informs the Idaho World that water has been turned into both the Channell and Goldtrap ditches, and times will soon be lively in that camp.

We learn from the Idaho World that a woman of the demi monde, known as Kitty King, committed suicide at Quartzburg about a week or ten days ago by taking an overdose of morphine.

The King county Commissioners have the chance to have a daily mail from Olympia to Seattle by repairing the roads to Pierce county—as Mr Coggan offers to put on a daily line of stages through from Seattle on that condition.

The total value of real and personal property in King county, Washington Territory, as per recent assessment is $1,495,374 or nearly half a million more than last year. This is almost equal to Thurston county, and the increase is greater.

The indebtedness of King county, Washington Territory, is in all $14,000, and the expenditures for the last year were $6,751 10, one-half of which went for roads and bridges. County scrip is now worth 75 cents on the dollar; it has been as low as 25 cents.

The official valuation of property in Thurston county, Washington Territory, a few days since, by the Assessor, is as follows: Land, $336,846, town lots, $451,150. Total of landed estate, $1,017,996. Personal property $530,178. Total of real and personal property, $1,548,174. The increase over last year's valuation is $290,067.

In Paradise Valley, Washington Territory, there are about 200 settlers who have taken up the pick of the land, but there yet remain many desirable claims open to settlement. Two school districts have been organized, and the returns show fifty six scholars of a suitable age to attend school. In addition to the attractions presented to the farmer and stock-raiser, good paying mines have been discovered a short distance north of Paradise Valley. About fifteen men are at work in the mines, and they report from $6 to two ounces a day to the hand.

Rumors of a terrible Indian massacre near Fort Benton have been received. It appears that Jack Simmons, J H More (generally known as X Biedler), Charles Hard and a gentleman named Judd, with three other white men, started from Fort Benton a few days since, in a small boat, to meet the steamer from St Louis with annuities for Indians aboard. Nothing was heard from them until last Sunday, when a half breed came into Fort Benton and reported them all murdered by Sioux Indians. Simmons was Indian Agent, stationed at Fort Benton. X Biedler has been connected with Wells, Fargo & Co's express for some time past.

The Walla Walla Statesman has the following in relation to a bankruptcy case lately tried in the District Court at that place: "Some two years since Goddard & Co were engaged in trade at Walla Walla. All of a sudden Goddard vanished, and his partner finding himself deserted, proceeded to sell the partnership goods, and at the same time made no provision for the partnership debts. Among the purchasers of the stock were the Jacobson brothers, who invested possibly $500. Subsequently Goddard and his partner were declared involuntary bankrupts and then O P Lacey, assignee of the bankrupts, brought suit for value of the goods sold to Jacobson Bros and has finally obtained a verdict for the whole amount—some $1,500. On the strength of this judgment other parties who bought goods from the delinquent firm will be proceeded against."

CITY.

[illegible] who came [illegible] lay rep[illegible] improvement [illegible] The stage started from [illegible] drive to [illegible] the gravel [illegible] Thence to [illegible] ngaging time including stage [illegible] At the Landing [illegible] under its gentlemanly officer [illegible] safe change of conveyance and a [illegible] down the Cowlitz river to Mont[illegible] The hotel at this place is clean and well managed and charges reasonable. Next morning at [illegible] o'clock the Rescue under a former commander, Captain Richard Hoyt, with whom everybody likes to travel, started for Portland and arrived at 12 M, accomplishing the journey from Puget Sound to Portland in two days and eight hours. Allowing for natural obstacles the trip was as satisfactory as it could be. Mr Coggan manager of the stage line, seemed to be ubiquitous—coming into sight at unexpected times and places—and Mrs Coggan illustrates a true woman's rights by keeping his book accounts and overseeing his business in his absence. The travelers concluded from appearances, that there are no laws for repairing roads in Washington Territory

ADDITIONS TO NATURAL HISTORY.—Mr C F DuBois has just received orders from [illegible] H Elager, of Lancaster county [illegible] to procure by purchase or otherwise, all the wild animals peculiar to the coast—such as bears, wolves, cougars, panthers, otters, beavers, etc, etc. All these animals are required to be trapped and secured alive. A good round sum will be paid to any persons who will obtain any of the above "varmints." Mr Klinger is connected with several other gentlemen in Baltimore who are and have been engaged for some time in procuring wild animals, birds, natural curiosities, &c, &c, to fill a large menagerie and museum, established in that city. Already have this company collected over 5,000 different kinds of stuffed birds. The intention is to have one of the largest collections of natural curiosities in the United States, [illegible] specimens of animals, birds and fishes known to natural history and peculiar to this continent. Any one possessing such things can dispose of them on advantageous terms to Mr DuBois. This gentleman is the only authorized person to make such collection on the northwest coast.

MUST LIE.—In exculpation of the conduct of the reporters of this city, in regard to the charge that they sometimes deviate from the direct path of veracity, in making sundry statements, we will publish what Mark Twain once said in a lecture. He said "A reporter has to lie a little of course, or he would be discharged. That is the only drawback to the profession. That is why I left it. I am different from Washington. I have a higher and grander standard of principle. Washington could not lie. I can lie but I won't. Reporting is fascinating, but then it is distressing to have to lie so." There, now, we think that no one will be so base as to charge Portland reporters with having told an untruth through any natural predilection. It is plain to be seen that it is one of the necessities of the profession

CIRCUIT COURT.—The following proceedings were had yesterday in the Circuit Court at Hillsboro

State of Oregon vs James Miller, for selling spirituous liquors without a license, plead guilty, fined $50

Oregon and California Railroad vs William McLinn, verdict by jury in favor of defendant for $125 damage, and $36 33⅓ for land appropriated

State of Oregon vs C A Westfall, jury out since 1 o'clock

Oregon and California Railroad vs. J Hoster, jury ordered to premises to examine fill, meet and bounds of claim. Now on trial

There are several divorce suits on the present docket

IN ERROR.—A few days ago we published an item from a Washington Territory exchange in which it was stated that Corbett & Co were running an opposition stage line from Monticello to Olympia, charging $8, while the regular line still charged $10. We learn that Mr Corbett is a partner in the old line, with Geo Coggan Esq, and that the fare is and has been only $8, and that the opposition is only a semi-occasional affair. We make this correction in justice to the [illegible] line, the proprietors of which have won an enviable reputation for promptness and energy in their business.

A PLEASURE TRIP.—This evening the moonlight excursion projected by the Good Templars of this city, will take place, and such arrangements are made as will insure a very pleasant time to all who attend. The steamer will start from the foot of Yamhill street at 8 o'clock P M, and go down the Wallamet and up the Columbia as far as Vancouver, and return. A band of music will accompany the excursionists. Ice cream will be furnished on board, and all will have a good time who go

DELEGATES CHOSEN.—General E B Babbitt, W. P. Abrams and Mrs Holbrook have been elected as delegates to the State Sunday School Convention at Albany, by the Presbyterian Sunday School of this city. The delegates from the Taylor street M E Sunday School are Rev Geo W. Izer, Joseph K Gill, E J Northrup, Hon John F. Caples and Mrs E J Northrup. From the Hall street M E Sunday School Rev W H Mohee and Mrs E P Church

PICNIC EXCURSION.—A large crowd of ladies and gentlemen accompanied the excursion given under the auspices of the Washington Guard yesterday. The day was a very pleasant one, being sufficiently cloudy to prevent sultriness. Every one who attended the picnic speak in very complimentary terms of the manner in which it was conducted, and how everything passed off to the satisfaction of all

TOWN CLOCK ORDINANCE.—In our report of the proceedings of the Common Council as published yesterday the names of Councilmen Burton, Caywood and Story appeared as voting aye on the passage of the above ordinance, and Councilmen Bauer, Combs and Congle as voting nay. This was an error, as the gentlemen first named voted against the ordinance, and the three latter voted for it

SPEAKING.—Gen E L Applegate will address the Republicans of this city at the Court House to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. A band will be in attendance and discourse numerous patriotic airs. Let there be a grand rally to be out. There will be plenty of room to accommodate everybody. Every one is cordially invited

BASKET PICNIC.—The St David's Sunday School of East Portland propose to hold a grand picnic and excursion to Vancouver to-morrow should the weather permit. The steamer Fanny Patton has been chartered for the occasion and will leave the wharf, foot of Washington street, at [illegible] o'clock A M

SOON DUE.—The steamer Idaho is soon expected at this port from Victoria with freight and passengers. Manager Waldron and his troupe are expected on this steamer. The season closed at Victoria on the 11 inst. Since then the troupe have probably been giving performances along the Sound.

REDUCED FARE.—All delegates to the Sunday School Convention at Albany on the 29th instant [illegible] a certificate of their election to the agents at the different depots along the line of the O & C R R will have tickets sold them for the round trip at reduced rates

FREIGHT.—Freight as follows was brought down on the train yesterday: [illegible] lbs dried apples, 630 lbs wool, 1 car feed, [illegible] car loads flour, 508 lbs chickens, 110 sheep, 2 cars wheat, 1 car cattle, 149 hides, 40 furs, [illegible] lbs bacon, 90 lbs butter

RETURNED.—Dr A L Lindsley of the First Presbyterian Church of this city returned last evening from Olympia, where he has been several weeks attending the Presbytery. His failing health, and stood the trip well

RAILROAD MATERIAL.—The [illegible] brought up forty three pairs of car wheels and a large quantity of railroad material for the Oregon and California Railroad

TO START.—According to announcement made by dispatch, Miss Anna Mehlig will sail for this city from San Francisco to-morrow on the steamer

ADDED.—Two copies of Mark Twain's new work, "Roughing It," beautifully illustrated, have just been added to the Portland Library

NEW MASONIC HALL

Through the courtesy of Mr C F Dub[illegible] we yesterday paid an inspection visit to the new Masonic Hall corner of Third and Alder streets. The room designed as the hall where the Masonic Lodges [illegible] to assemble is as yet in an incomplete condition and therefore cannot be described. The fresco painting of the ceiling and ends and sides of the room is about completed. [illegible] this [illegible] the work we propose to [illegible] particularly. The fresco painting we [illegible] say with[illegible] exaggeration is unsurpassed [illegible] the coast and [illegible] we [illegible] to determine if there is another [illegible] the kind which will equal in [illegible] general effect this work of the brush and brain. The painting has been done under the superintendence of Mr William [illegible] of this city, a well known proficient in the fresco art. It has required four painters over two months to accomplish the work so far toward its completion. The work will probably be finished in the [illegible] a few weeks, as the main design has been completed and little remains to be done but adding the finishing strokes.

Stepping inside of the room, which is [illegible] feet—and taking at one glance the four sides of the hall and the ceiling overhead the combined effect is to use the mildest expression grand and magnificent. The sides are accurately divided off into bracketed sections, pillars, columns and geometrical figures most elegantly frescoed. The columns are so artistically blended that one must approach the wall very closely to discover that the work has been painted and not sculptured in relief. All over the room are pointed the symbols of this ancient Order, and immediately above the several positions occupied by the officers of the Lodge when it is in session are placed the appropriate emblems of that office. Every symbol known to the Order is represented on the walls.

But the crowning excellence of the whole work are the fine frescoed pictures, on the sides, ends and ceiling, which is designed as a brief illustrated history of the origin and objects of Masonry. Each of these pictures has a most impressive, beautiful and symbolical language which none but members of that order can really interpret and appreciate

At the eastern end of the hall, at the center of the room, below the ceiling, is a large circular picture, about three feet in diameter. The view represents the sun just emerging from below the eastern horizon, with his paralleled beams tinging with purple and gold, the clouds and lofty summits of the mountains. The scene is oriental, as may be told by the peculiar tropical fruits and foliage of the trees. In the foreground can be seen those "ships of the desert," the patient camels, toiling under their burdens, and away in the distance are the pyramids, while still farther in the background can be seen the rugged sides and summits of mountains

At the west end of the room is another view of about the same dimension. This picture represents the orb of day, just dipping its rim into a tranquil sea. The slanting rays of the sun as they fall back over the waters, and are reflected from the clouds, produce an effect on the scene which is gorgeous, and is indescribable. It is literally a flood of gold, with enough purple from the waters, and blue from the skies to harmonize the colors, and produce a perfect blending of lights and shadows. In the foreground a portion of a wreck floats on the unruffled waters, and at the utmost verge of the horizon where sky and sea seem to unite, can be seen a solitary ship under full sail

The south side of the room is adorned by a similar scene. The sun is represented as shining in the full tide and strength of meridian glory. The view presents a strange and grand combination of rugged, precipitous mountains, deep chasms and fantastically shaped rocks, over which brawls a little stream of pure, limpid water, which, after many a leap from rock to rock through its winding channel quietly pursues its way down a little valley from sight

At the north side of the room is a view which represents the plains of Bethlehem, with the North Star shining bright in the blackened heavens and a faint streak of light just struggling, away in the far east, with the surrounding gloom

About the center of the ceiling overhead, is a large, elliptically shaped scene which represents the zenith of the heavens, with a circle of clouds through which can be seen the deep cerulean blue of the sky, with a host of bright stars gleaming and the full moon. This is by far the most superb picture in the room, and displays both a skillful hand and fine conception on the part of the artist. The painting of the room alone cost $1,500

The room has not been furnished yet and cannot be until the fresco work is completed. It will be furnished in a corresponding style with elegant furniture, fine damask drapery, curtains, etc, etc. We have heard no estimate as yet of the total cost of fitting this room up, but it would be safe to place it among the thousands. The carpet alone will cost $2,500. It is woven in one piece, of the most rich and costly fabrics, and has all the symbols of the Order worked on the surface

No adequate conception can be formed of the effect of this triumph of art until the room is furnished and brilliantly illuminated with gas

EAST PORTLAND MATTERS

[From the Era]

The Good Templars of East Portland having learned that it is the general desire that they give another entertainment similar to the one week before last, propose complying with the popular wish as soon as the necessary arrangements can be perfected. It is the intention to repeat only one or two of the pieces rendered before and make the entertainment additionally new and attractive by putting on the stage several new features not before introduced

Mr Hull, engaged in preparing the Pink Weed Remedy for the trade in this city, while bottling some of the fluid yesterday, met with a painful accident. He was pressing the cork into a bottle when the latter burst, the flying glass striking his right hand and cutting it severely. It will prevent him from using his hand as dexterously as he might wish for some time

ON THE ROAD.—Now since the City Fathers have concluded that the city clock does not need any gas and the Herald's young man declines to remove his [illegible] that elevated locality, something ought to be done to prevent the small [illegible] from coming to the city. It is evidently intending to pay us a [illegible] A [illegible] has just developed [illegible] Ashland [illegible] like a [illegible] traveler [illegible] see the [illegible] have [illegible] keep their trails [illegible]

Judge Rice, Vice President of the North Pacific Railroad Company, and two or three of the Directors of the same Company are expected here between the 1st and 10th of June

We learn that Mr Alfred Belt, who has been freight clerk on the steamship line between this port and San Francisco for the last three years, has tendered his resignation to the company and is on his last trip to this port. He intends to engage in business in San Francisco. Mr Belt is a young man of very competent business habits, and has many friends whose good wishes attend him

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—A meeting was held at Armory Hall last evening in pursuance of orders from Gen Bell, to effect a permanent organization of the Portland Light Artillery company. The following officers were chosen: Captain, Thomas Mountain; Lieutenant, George Heaton; First Sergeant, S S Thomas; Second Sergeant, — Tuttle; First Corporal, E L Porter; Second Corporal, J B Webster; Bugler, William Price; Secretary, R Holman; Treasurer, John Wallace. This company number at the organization 34 members. Two pieces of light artillery have already been secured. The intention is to have the company ready to parade in uniform on the Fourth of July, fire the salutes, etc. A meeting will be held at the armory on Saturday evening to make further necessary arrangements

AT THE THEATER.—The justly celebrated Japanese gave their third performance in this city last night to a full house. Their feats are truly astounding, far ahead of anything of the kind ever witnessed in Portland before. In fact, some of the gymnastic, acrobatic and slight of hand tricks are truly wonderful. There were many prominent citizens present last evening, and all expressed themselves perfectly delighted and satisfied with the programme as carried out. This evening the entertainment will be equally edifying. To-morrow afternoon a matinee and the last performance to-morrow night. Reserved seats can be obtained without extra charge, but they will likely all be secured at an early hour

FILLING UP.—Since the river has been rising, the lowland opposite the ferry landing on the eastern side, has been submerged. The new route for the railroad will probably be completed soon so that the high waters will in no wise interfere with a free passage of trains up or down the track, as formerly

VENDING ICE CREAM.—The demand for this delicacy has so increased since warm weather has set in that some enterprising fellow has rigged up a one horse vehicle, and is calling on the people at their houses. He seems to be well patronized

CLUB MEETING.—Owing to the fact that Mr. Mallory was unable to be present at the Club meeting last night the audience had to depend on extempore speeches for the evening. Remarks were made by Mr Ball and others

Voorhees on Greeley.

The following version of the definition of the position of Hon. D. W. Voorhees of Indiana in regard to his support of Horace Greeley was telegraphed by the Atlantic and Pacific line to this coast. The occurrence took place in the House of Representatives on the [illegible] when [illegible] was granted twenty minutes to speak on a question of privilege.

Mr. Voorhees [illegible] a personal explanation, sent to the [illegible] desk a newspaper paragraph which said he had been strongly for Davis for President, but since Mr. Greeley had been put in nomination he had been halting and hesitating. All the members of the House came hastily [illegible] forward and gathered around Mr. Voorhees, who asked and obtained twenty minutes in explanation. Mr. Voorhees said that in what he might have to say he would speak only for himself, and not for other parties. He had never halted as to his convictions or his course, and didn't halt or hesitate as to Mr. Greeley. If he could ever have been tempted to halt and hesitate it would have been when his party had presented not more than fifteen votes in the House. For his own part he was not in favor of a high protective tariff.

Speer, of Pennsylvania, interrupted him on the point of order that Mr. Voorhees was not confining himself to a personal explanation.

The Speaker ruled that the House having granted twenty minutes to a member, it could not then dictate his line of argument.

Voorhees then said that whoever was in favor of a high protective system, which had for years ground down the constituency which he represented, would vote for the Cincinnati nominee. He denounced Greeley as the most clamorous advocate of the Ku Klux Klan which now curses the South. Greeley had been an advocate of all the legislation that paralyzed and impoverished the South. Even at a recent date Mr. Greeley had advocated an extension of time for the Ku Klux Klan law. He had also been an earnest advocate of the force and bayonet law, and he had raved and bawled for placing the local elections of New York under Congressional supervision. Going back to the past, Mr. Voorhees said the Cincinnati nominee stands recorded in the contradictory attitude of being in favor of the inalienable right, under the Declaration of Independence, of any dissatisfied portion of this country, to break off federal relations, and set up for itself. Was the man who stood committed by such declaration worthy to be President? It was said Greeley was kindly disposed toward the South. The men of the South had told him (Voorhees) with tears in their eyes that to him more than any one their error was due. The Republicans speaking, through their imperial organ, the New York Tribune, having plunged the South into rebellion, next appears shouting "On to Richmond," and after our repulse he is compelled, by the force of public opinion, to beg pardon with bated breath. Soon after we find him urging confiscation and glorying in the prospect of it. It is said the Democrats desire success against this Administration. So they do, but it was better to be right than President.

Mr. Rosevelt, interrupting, asked if Mr. Voorhees would support the Baltimore Convention nominees, whoever they might be.

Mr. Voorhees replied that it would be as difficult to answer for himself as for his interrogator, judging from his (Rosevelt's) past course. [Laughter.] He would never vote for a man who held such language as this, coming from the Tribune: "The master spirits in every haunt of vice and debauchery in the land will be found supporting the party that calls itself Democratic." [Laughter.] Alluding to the claim that Mr. Greeley had bailed Jeff Davis, Mr. Voorhees said he thought that was rather a poor plank to run on. [Laughter.] He remembered that when Mr. Greeley clamored for the arrest of Jeff Davis and others it was General Grant who interposed a claim that these men were on parole. Were he compelled to stump for Greeley he was afraid he would be compelled to acknowledge that Grant had done more for the South than his nominee. [Loud applause.]

Mr. Speers—That comes from the other side.

Mr. Voorhees—You have been voting for two weeks with radical high protectionists of the other side. [Laughter.]

Mr. Rosevelt—The gentleman has recently been at the White House.

Voorhees [excitedly]—I have not crossed the threshold of the White House for three years. What you say is false.

Mr. Rosevelt said he had been reliably informed that Mr. Voorhees had a recent interview with the President.

Mr. Voorhees—Then you are keeping company with men who do not tell the truth. [Laughter.] He concluded by stating that although Judge Davis was a Republican, he had much in common with his (Voorhees) sentiments, but Mr. Greeley had nothing in common with the three millions of Democratic voters, who couldn't be transferred into the camp of such a leader.

The proposed line of the Continental Railway is to extend from New York to Chicago, and thence to Council Bluffs. The distance will be 1,224 miles, a saving of 225 miles over any existing line. It is supposed that the road will cross the Mississippi at Muscatine. James F. Abbot, of New York, the President of the Company, thinks that cars will be running over the entire line by Jan. 1, 1874. From New York to Chicago there will be a double track.

The consumption of paper collars in the United States is estimated to be 2,000,000 a day. Forty factories are required to supply the demand.

Wheat in Liverpool, 12s 8d@12s 10d.

The scarcity of money seriously affects business transactions. The volume of goods moving this week is not large; in fact trade in nearly all lines is dull. Remittances from the country are slow. It has become a puzzle to decide where the money sent into the country last fall and winter to buy produce has gone to. It has not returned through the regular channels of business, yet country merchants say that money is very scarce. Stocks of goods in all lines are large in this market. Prices are without especial change.

The San Francisco Commercial Herald says: In conversing with a prominent and successful Oregon merchant regarding the shipment of Bacon, Hams, Lard, Butter, Cheese, etc., to Oregon and other northern marts, he replied that so long as Oregonians could get a dollar per bushel for their Wheat in quantities they would not trouble themselves about raising hogs or caring for the dairy; that the people north much preferred to buy their Provisions here, [illegible] from Porkopolis. This then accounts in some measure for the extraordinary change and developments in this branch of our trade. Heretofore, Oregon sent us large supplies of Hog Meats, etc., but now instead of sending us Bacon, Pork, Hams, and Lard as heretofore, she is steadily taking from us considerable supplies, and this trade is increasing day by day. There is no doubt of the correctness of these statements; yet the policy is a bad one for Oregon. Diversified production is the greatest need of a State.

Of Cured Meats a San Francisco paper says: There is no cessation in the Overland supplies, and, coming as they do upon a bare market here, in Oregon and Washington Territory, prices are well sustained, and, what is more, we notice several car loads received here from the East en route for British Columbia. We are building up considerable trade on this coast for Dry Salted Meats from Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Louisville, and intervening points along the line of the railroad.

Freight [illegible] San Francisco to New York is about $3 ℔ bbl. A regular market seems to be opening [illegible]

[illegible]

Tea and Coffee are to be free after the 1st July next, the President having signed the bill repealing the duties on these articles.

The Directors of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad are on their way out to the Pacific coast, the object being to see what can be done to induce San Francisco to form a connection with the Texas and Pacific Railroad, with which the Pennsylvania Central is connected.

No changes in the prices of agricultural implements; demand fair. There is a slight advance in the quotations of metals.

A letter from Capt. Noyes, of the Garibaldi, from Hongkong, under date of April 12th, states that he does not expect to sail before June 1st. The letter also states that another bark was on the berth for Portland and would sail about the 20th of April. We therefore need not expect the Garibaldi before the 1st of August.

The steamer Ajax arrived at this port last night. She brought a very large freight list—555 tons, consisting of dry goods, groceries, hardware and general merchandise. She brought about fifty wagons complete, and a number of agricultural implements to several hardware firms in the city.

The bark Rival is discharging freight at Flanders' wharf.

Domestic Produce.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.--1860--X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Beautiful Woman.
